

The Kyoto University Museum 20th Anniversary

International Symposium

University Museums: Collection, Museum Science, and International Network

Date and time: July 2, 2017 (Sun) 13:00-17:00

Place: The Kyoto University Museum, Kyoto University, auditory room

Registration fee: Free, but museum admission fee is required

Registration and inquiry: Please send your name, affiliation, and e-mail address via e-mail to um-symp2017@inet.museum.kyoto-u.ac.jp

PROGRAM

Boris Krystufek (Slovenian Museum of Natural History, Slovenia)

Who cares about the natural history collections?

Naohide Nakayama (Kyoto University, Japan)

Natural history collections and university museums in Japan: recent advances and future perspective

Paul Callomon (Drexel University, USA)

New Lives: becoming a university museum after 200 years of independence

Kai He (Kyoto University, Japan)

The next generation of natural history museums in the era of big data

Daosavanh Sanamxay (National University of Laos, Lao PDR)

Current status of Lao's zoology collection and future mission

Masaharu Motokawa (Kyoto University, Japan)

Role of museum specimens as science infrastructure and international network

General discussion

京都大学総合博物館

The Kyoto University Museum, Kyoto University

Yoshida-honmachi, Sakyo, Kyoto 606-8501, Japan

<http://www.museum.kyoto-u.ac.jp>